

Attempting to overcome limitations and arrive at fuller fruition.

Self determination defines the freedom to choose how to relate to life.

How you accumulate knowledge will influence how you organize it.

Truth is defined as the organization of our knowledge, in greater concordance with reality, and the universal process of development.

Evolution: ... a creative open process, with indefinite possibilities of fulfillment still unrealized before it ... to be fully comprehended only in the active process of realizing it. This automatically heals the basic split between man and nature.

And the split between the individual and society is healed in self-fulfillment (the development of personality), in making one's particular contribution to the cosmic process.

Individual and social development are processes of self-transformation.

... fulfillment through the realization of potentiality.
